

Perceprio Products RTOS Support – “Target Platform”

Perceprio Products (including but not limited to Perceprio Tracealyzer, Perceprio Detect, Perceprio Profile, Perceprio DevAlert, and as updated from time to time) are licensed to the Customer for use by User(s) under the Perceprio End User License Agreement (EULA). This policy document provides further information on the availability of licenses, evaluation versions, updates and upgrades, technical support obligations and product warranties under the EULA, for the different product life cycle stages of Perceprio Products RTOS Support / Target Platforms.

DEFINITIONS OF PERCEPRIO PRODUCTS RTOS SUPPORT

BETA or EARLY ACCESS – shall mean a Perceprio product, or RTOS support package that extends capabilities of a Perceprio product, that is not yet in General Availability phase. Any use of a BETA or EARLY ACCESS product version is at the Customer’s own risk, and is delivered by Perceprio as-is, without any technical support obligations or product warranties, whether expressed or implied.

ACTIVE or GENERAL AVAILABILITY – shall mean a Perceprio product including named RTOS support packages, for which a Customer holding a license to the Perceprio product that includes technical support and assistance, is entitled to receive such support under the terms of the license and EULA. RTOS support packages that are active for Perceprio Tracealyzer are presented on the Perceprio website \(https://perceprio.com/tracealyzer/os-support/\) and this list is subject to change from time to time without prior notice. Perceprio may provide updates to named RTOS support packages, which will then be available to Customers under the EULA terms.

END OF LIFE (EOL) – shall mean a named RTOS support package to a Perceprio product that is removed from general availability per above. Perceprio offers to license Perceprio products also if the intended use by Customer is interoperability with a EOL RTOS support package, but such delivery by Perceprio under such licensing is strictly as-is, without any technical support obligations or product warranties, whether expressed or implied. Perceprio specifically waives any obligations of interoperability between a Perceprio product and an EOL RTOS support package. Perceprio will not provide updates or upgrades to an EOL RTOS support package, whether Perceprio is made aware of interoperability issues or not.

DISCONTINUED – shall mean a Perceprio product or RTOS support package to a Perceprio product, which is discontinued and no longer made available. Perpetual licenses of Perceprio Products will not be affected by the discontinuation of an RTOS support package. Perceprio reserves the right to not accept prolongations of support agreement or subscription licenses.
